

Dear Friends,

What inspired me to run for public office is my deep sense of commitment to Richmond Hill. I want to give back to the very community that provided me with the opportunity to grow my business, embraced my participation in governance and most importantly, gave my wife and I, a safe and healthy environment in which to raise our children.

Throughout the past seventeen years I have served Richmond Hill as a successful businessman, community leader and activist. I have worked in a wide range of areas: health care, education, seniors, youth and government committees, including the Ontario Medical Association. I have frequently worked with Cabinet ministers to resolve issues and concerns. My experience has given me an understanding as to how business and government have a number of parallels. Our government needs to be competitive, accountable and responsible.

The face of the GTA has changed. We are a diverse society representing the best people from all over the world. I am prepared to work with all groups to find common ground and ensure that we have a united voice. To make a community work, you have to reach out to ensure that all people are represented and that no one is isolated. We need to be united and have capable, experienced representation to achieve our collective goals. I understand the community's needs.

I am running because I want to help local residents saddled with Dalton McGuinty's higher taxes. Dalton McGuinty calls it a 'HST'...I call it just one more tax grab by a greedy government that has no idea how hard people are working just to get by...a government that takes and takes and takes. Families deserve some honesty, some fairness and value for their tax dollars. We need to make improvements in our governmental systems, such as health and transportation.

Finally, I am running because it is long overdue that our government do something about the gridlock and the traffic that keep so many parents away from their children...so many husbands and wives away from each other...the traffic gridlock that is threatening our quality of life.

If I am elected to be your Richmond Hill Provincial PC candidate, I'm prepared to knock on every door and to listen on every doorstep, in coffee shops and anywhere else that people will talk to me. I will work hard to ensure that Richmond Hill once again has a Progressive Conservative government – and MPP.
